Connected Home

Security, Energy Management, Connected Home & Health

Imagine a home that anticipates your needs. As you pull into the drive, your home comes 'on' and is ready to greet you at the door. You walk in and your home is the perfect temperature, the outside already lit, your shades are rolled down, and your favorite show is playing on your TV. With home automation, you control almost every aspect of your home from anywhere. The smart home has officially arrived.

Energy Management:

Far more advanced than other stand-alone thermostats, our award-winning solution learns your families' activity patterns and adapts automatically. Our powerful rules engine also allows you to stay comfortable while helping to avoid energy waste.

Security & Awareness:

BriteBox gives you tamper-resistant technology for uninterrupted protection as well as the ability to control and monitor your system, no matter where you are.

Wellness Solutions:

Wellness gives complete insight into the daily routines and happenings in the home of your aging family member, providing a secure and cost-effective option for independent living.

Video Monitoring:

Provide complete visibility with live-streaming feeds, video alerts and recorded clips right to your smart phone, tablet or computer.

Home Automation:

BriteBox connects all of the mission critical systems in your home through the Alarm.com portal to provide smart, responsive automation and seamless control. Best of all, the entire system can be controlled through one app for total convenience.

According to Consumer Reports National Research, almost half of all homeowners neglect to turn on their home's security system. Annoying false alarms, expensive fines for unnecessary responses, cumbersome user-interfaces and simple operator error all account for this alarming statistic. BriteBox aggregates the latest integrated security and connected home technology and transforms it into a system that puts your home at your fingertips with an easy to use interface.

Integrated Solutions

Innovation You Can See

Connected Homes by BriteBox are unique and personalized to the homeowners lifestyle. Our technology creates highly personal recommendations for automating your home by combining door, window and motion sensors with thermostat and light usage patterns; then integrating external data like weather and location.

- 1. We aggregate the most innovative and technologically-advanced smart-home equipment, software and network solutions so you can simply go about your daily routines while your home takes action to make everything more convenient, secure and efficient.
- 2. We start with hardware products like the intuitive 4-Color touch screen display from 2GIG®, break-through security image sensors from Alarm.com® and Garage door automation from LiftMaster®. BriteBox searches out and coordinates the best available technology for your home.
- 3. Innovative equipment needs the right software and network for a seamless connected home. We coordinate all of the hardware on a single, scalable, wireless technology platform from Alarm.com controllable through a single, easy to use app.
